Town Assessment Moves Upward This Year, Reeve States

COURT OF REVISION
ALLOWS SEVERAL APPEALS
THIS YEAR

INCREASE IS $14,000

A net increase of $14,000 in the town's assessment for 1939 was announced by Reeve Fred A. Lundy, chairman of the finance committee of the town council, following a meeting of the council to pass accounts last evening.

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd named the members of the court of revision at a town council meeting on Monday evening of last week as follows: Councillors F. A. Lundy, D. O. Mungovan, Frank Bowser, A. V. Higginson and Wm. Dixon.

Several appeals were allowed at Newmarket's court of revision of the assessment roll in the council chamber last week.

Mrs. Annie Bowdwin, Timothy St., assessed for $3,600, said she had purchased the property for $2,500. She thought the land was assessed too high at $750. B. W. Hunter, assessor, said that all land in that zone was assessed at $9 a foot frontage.

"Assessments are based not on sale value, but on surrounding values," said N. L. Mathews, K. C., clerk and solicitor.

The appeal was dismissed.

Mrs. Celia Forhan, northwest corner Main and Queen Sts., assessed to Michael Hodgins' estate, 65 feet at $12 a foot, and building at $1,500, divided into four houses, and rented for total of $40 a month.

On the basis of rental, assessment should be $4,800 instead of $2,500, the court said. Appeal was dismissed.

The appeal of Reg. LeGresley concerning his lot at the end of Charles St., assessed at $250, was dismissed.

David Moulds, 27 Timothy St., 66 feet frontage, land assessed at $600 and house at $1,200, total $1,800, purchased for $1,500. "This is an old roughcast house built by Alf. Allen's father," said the assessor, B. W. Hunter. "I think he is justified in appealing."

House assessment was reduced to $1,000.

Fred E. Penrose, Second St., 150 feet frontage assessed at $5 a foot, $750, reduced to $500.

Robert Sherwood, 18 Cotter St., 150 feet at $350, building $1,200, total $1,550. Assessment reduced to $1,200.

Charles Theakston, 66 Gorham St., 66 feet frontage at $150, building $1,750, total $2,200. Building assessment was reduced to $1,500.

Julius Well, Main St., south of United church parsonage, 65 feet at $1,600, house $3,100. Appeal was dismissed.

C. F. Wass, land $250, building $1,700, total $1,950. Building assessment reduced to $1,200.

The national Red Cross Society financial campaign is now under way, and the local branch begins its canvass on Monday. The following statement of the aims and needs of the Red Cross has been prepared by the local branch.

The Red Cross Needs Your Help

The Canadian Red Cross Society is a national organization pledged to provide aid and comfort to soldiers in the field in war-time, and to the community at large during days of peace.

It is non-sectarian and universal.

The army medical services provide doctors, nurses, hospitals and equipment up to a certain point, but the extra comforts, the personal services, the small luxuries, that go to make the life of a well soldier in the field or of a stricken soldier in camp or hospital more endurable, are supplied by the Red Cross.

For certain well-understood reasons, the Red Cross does not draw on the public treasury.

It is financed by private citizens who feel that the best is none too good for the man who offers his life for his country.

The Canadian Red Cross Society has launched a coast to coast campaign to raise a $3,000,000 war chest.

The executive of the Newmarket unit of the Red Cross feel that over and above the very valuable aid in the knitting of socks, making of pyjamas, pneumonia jackets, a cash contribution of at least $2,500 should be made.

To meet our objective a personal canvass of the town will begin on Monday. Each canvasser is being provided with regulation receipt forms. He or she is a volunteer, and the success of the campaign will be the only reward for their labor.

Give and be generous in your giving. The Red Cross needs YOUR help.

NEWMARKET YOUTH By Observer

Proud! That's a title no one wants to wear. I beg your pardon, I want to wear it. I am proud. I am proud of the youth of Newmarket. Who does not feel proud of them after Tuesday night's concert? I had no lot nor part in their training, nor is it likely that I shall ever have any part in their future training, but one must feel free to express appreciation. It was delightful to see that at least a group in town had given themselves to the arts—music, vocal expression and dramatics. It seemed to me every note was finished; every word was clearly enunciated and carried to the utmost corner of the hall, and every turn on the stage was graceful.

The entire program was very creditable to the youth of our town, and my mind went back to the editor's note of last week. Why not a recreational or physical director for the town? Very definitely we need something of that kind. Perhaps a director of a school of expression? An evening school where all the fine arts would be taught, including physical culture. It is heart-rending to read the reports of our local police courts when one knows what fine possibilities our youth possesses.

How much more delightful to see the town thrilled with Tuesday's program than to have them ashamed of the misdeeds of one youth? One month in a school of expression, learning to do and to discover, will save a youth better than anything we know. While loyal to all who are going overseas let us not neglect those who may have to go.

First Red Cross Concert Makes Delightful Evening

PLAYS AND SOLOS ARE INTERSPERSED IN LOVELY PROGRAM

Marked musical and dramatic talent was displayed at the well-filled town hall on Tuesday night when a most interesting concert was given in aid of the local branch of the Red Cross society.

The program opened with some remarks by Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd, who urged the people of Newmarket to support the work of the Red Cross society by contributing to the canvass which will be conducted here next week.

Dr. Boyd introduced Alfred Smith, president of the Newmarket veterans, three times wounded in the last war, who told of the fine work done by the Red Cross during the last war and asked for generous support of the work.

Harold Rutledge, violinist, was the first artist on the program and he delighted the audience with Drda's well-known Souvenir and Kreisler's Liebesfreud. He was accompanied at the piano by his sister, Miss Kathleen Rutledge. He gave further selections later on during the evening.

A delightful presentation of Bernard Shaw's play, "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets," came next. The play is based on the legend that William Shakespeare was paying court to one of Queen Elizabeth's ladies-in-waiting, Mary Fitton, the dark lady of the sonnets, a part played delightfully by Virginia Davis. Keeping his tryst with the dark lady, the young playwright encounters the queen instead and makes love to her. The part of the imperious red-haired queen was beautifully and skillfully played by Barbara Davis, while Murray Davis was a charming Will Shakespeare, showing fine acting talent. His enunciation was one of the delights of the evening. The two are interrupted by the dark lady, who bursts upon them in a convincing display of jealous fury. The queen's anger is quickly turned upon the handsome poet, whose arrogance is equal to her own. Dark Mary is eventually dismissed from the scene and the queen and the poet, friends again, discuss the future of the theatre.

Finally the sentry, John Rumble, carries off Shakespeare to a safe spot beyond the palace grounds. The part of the sentry was very ably played.

Gerald Rutledge gave three delightful piano solos and was encored by an enthusiastic audience. Barbara Davis gave a most graceful interpretation of a dance, "Romance," by Rubinstein, accompanied at the piano by Gerald Rutledge.

Miss Gwendolyn Lambert sang several lovely solos, concluding, when she was encored, with a specially requested number, the "Indian Love Call," which she sang beautifully. She was accompanied by Mrs. C. R. Boulding of Aurora.

A second play, from Shakespeare's "The Merry Wives of Windsor," concluded the program. Donald Davis made a thoroughly captivating John Falstaff, and Mary Davis and Catherine Davis, as Mistress Page and Mistress Ford, were two attractive and most "merry" wives, whose merciless teasing of poor Sir John created much merriment. Both parts were extremely well handled. The pretty

PRAISES MATHEWS

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd has issued the following annual statement:

The town clerk, N. L. Mathews, made the statement at the last meeting of the council that Newmarket was in the best financial position since the year 1925.

When I became mayor six years ago, there were $60,000 arrears in taxes, in other words, more than one quarter of the citizens of Newmarket were behind in their taxes.

Besides that, over 100 people were in arrears for water and light to the tune of $11,300.

That was a deplorable situation to say the least.

By using strict business methods, applying pressure, but giving people time, the arrears have been gradually cleared up. The final step was the tax sale this fall which netted the town $12,000.

I must give Mr. Mathews great credit for the part he played in the collection of these arrears. Now it is up to the citizens of Newmarket to see that a similar condition of arrears never occurs again.

It helps a lot if the members of the council keep their taxes, also water and light bills, strictly paid-up.

It is not a favor to the citizens for the council to allow arrears to accumulate, for they must be paid later in full, plus penalties. The penalties the people in arrears have had to pay during the past six years have amounted to over $10,000.

It was an unpleasant duty for me to perform. I want to thank the citizens for their co-operation and the way they appreciated anything I could do to assist them to get out from under their load of debt.

The Bill Rendering Machine. These new water and light bills you have been receiving the last two months are the result of the new machine purchased this year.

The work at the clerk's office was getting so heavy that something had to be done. Either hire another girl to assist Miss Irene Parker or buy the new bill rendering machine. We found it would be much cheaper to buy the machine. Now since the new water tax must be added to each monthly water and light bill the machine is doubly useful. (Page 4, Col. 6)

MRS. C. F. WILLIS IS RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT

The annual meeting and election of officers of the ladies' lawn bowling club was held at the home of the president, Mrs. C. F. Willis, Millard Ave., on Thursday, resulting as follows: President, Mrs. C. F. Willis; secretary, Mrs. G. W. Luesby; treasurer, Mrs. S. J. Boyd; game committee, Mrs. Goring, Mrs. J. Murphy, Miss Jean Hunter, purchasing committee, Mrs. W. M. Cockburn, Mrs. A. White, Mrs. T. Mills; booth committee, Mrs. H. P. Gilman, Mrs. A. Eves, Mrs. H. P. Gilman.

A social hour, spent in playing bridge, followed the business session, the winner being Mrs. H. P. Gilman.

HAVE BUSY DAY

Last Sunday was a busy day for the R.S.A. bugle band, the boys playing at the town hall in the morning, then going to Toronto and marching with the C.N.R. veterans to the cenotaph at the city hall and playing "Reveille" and the "Last Post" and from there to St. George's church where they sounded the "Last Post."

Council Changes Will Probably Be Few, If No Dark Horses Run

MAYOR, REEVE AND DEPUTY ARE LIKELY TO BE SAME

VOTE ON DEC. 4

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd has announced that he will again offer his services to the town for what may prove more than the usual one-year term of office, if the legislature approves a government proposal.

Mayor Boyd has expressed the hope that all members of the present council will run again so that he may be surrounded by experienced men.

Reeve Fred A. Lundy is waiting for the conclusion of the present session of the county council before he commits himself.

Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale will again run for his present office.

Councillor A. V. Higginson declares that he is through with council. Councillor A. D. Evans talks in the same vein, but it is believed likely that he will see the water and light department through its present reconstruction program.

Councillor Wm. Dixon has not made up his mind yet, and won't do so, he says, until five minutes before the time to qualify expires. In other words, he will allow friends to nominate him but he will have to be persuaded to qualify. His attitude usually is that he prefers a contest to an acclamation. Councillor Joe Spilllette backs time for council and thinks he is through.

Councillor Frank Bowser will probably offer his services again. So will Councillor D. O. Mungovan.

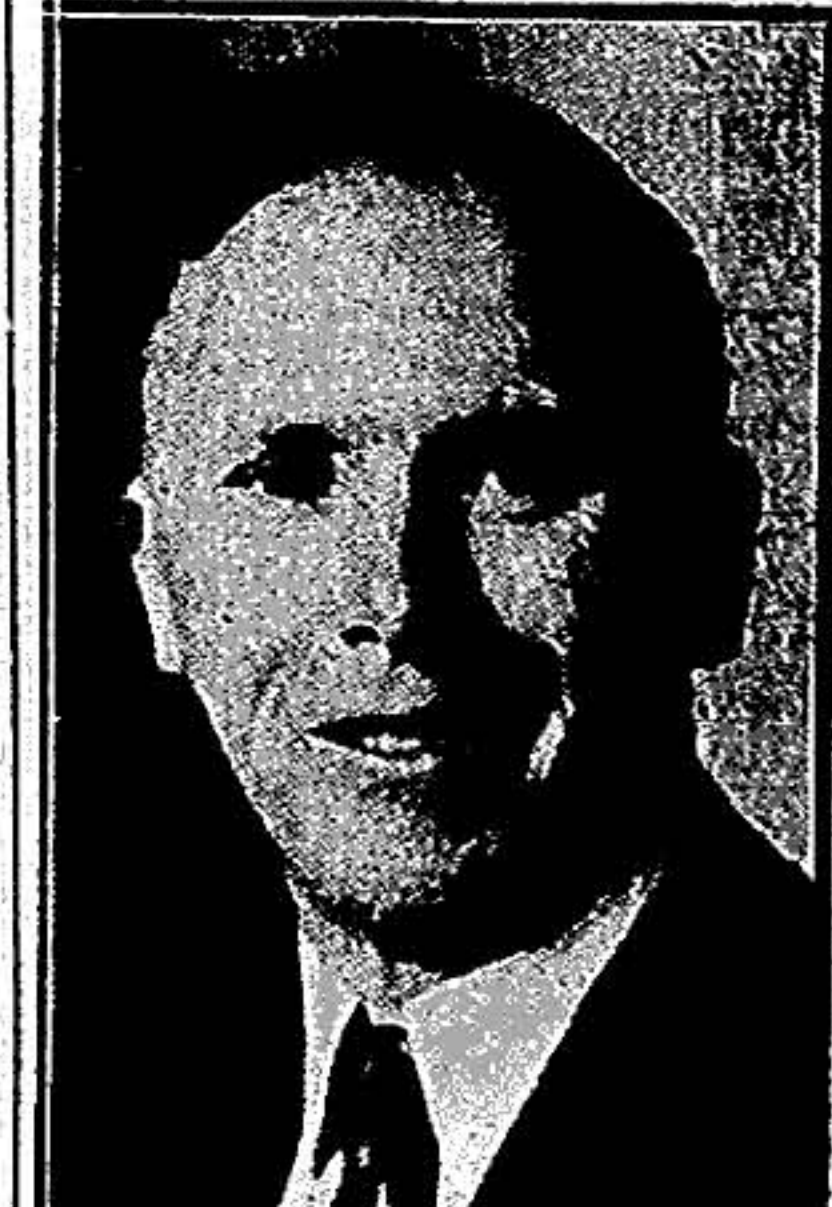

Friends have been urging J. O. Little to offer again as mayor, but he has declined. Others have been after W. W. Osborne, with more years of council service to his credit than any other citizen, to offer again, but he has not yet said yes. This year he has co-operated with council, giving the town the benefits of his knowledge of affairs concerned with the water and light department, as he has been called upon on from time to time, and he is prepared to go on helping from the outside.

Dr. L. W. Dales, former reeve, is not anxious to return to county council as yet, but might be prevailed upon to accept a lesser seat around the council board.

Nominations take place on Friday, Nov. 24, and the election, if any, on Monday, Dec. 4.

Citizens generally hope that enough others will offer to run to give the public the opportunity to make their own choice.

WILL SERVE AGAIN

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd, Newmarket's efficient and capable mayor, has announced that he will offer his services again as mayor. Dr. Boyd had intended to retire at this time, feeling that he had accomplished the things he had in mind, but now, due to the war, has decided to see the town through these "troublesome times."

Red Cross Groups Given Town Hall Right-of-Way

TOWN COUNCIL INTERVENES IN CONFLICT OF INTERESTS

Organizations working for the Red Cross are to have the free use of the town hall throughout the war, the town council decided last evening.

A conflict between the Badminton club and Mrs. A. N. Belugin's group, rehearsing for a Red Cross play early in December, was brought to the attention of the town council last evening.

Both groups wanted the use of the town hall last evening. The badminton players had agreed that Mrs. Belugin should have it, but found yesterday that a tournament in Markham had been postponed until this evening, instead of taking place last evening. They had not had a practice for a week and needed the hall last evening, they contended.

Asked by Councillor Frank Bowser what the arrangement between the Badminton club and the town was, N. L. Mathews, K. C., clerk and solicitor, said that the club paid $10 a month for the use of the hall when not otherwise rented.

Councillor Frank Bowser said that citizens trying to help with war work should be encouraged.

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd, Reeve F. A. Lundy and other members of the council expressed concern about continual moving of the chairs, and consequent breaking, and Councillor Wm. Dixon, while expressing sympathy with the Badminton club, suggested that they should try to secure quarters elsewhere, due to the demand for the hall for war purposes.

The council confirmed an agreement reached between the Badminton club and Mrs. Belugin that she should have the hall on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

The Era office is open on Saturdays afternoons from 2 to 5 and on Saturday evenings from 8 to 10, D. S. T.

MEN IN UNIFORM TAKE PART IN SERVICE

Under the banner of the Salvation Army, Newmarket Veterans Association participated in an impressive Memorial Day service on Sunday morning, held in the town hall.

The veterans paraded from the north end to the war memorial, where they laid wreaths, and then paraded to the town hall.

Adjutant Sidney Boulton was in charge of the service, with a Salvation Army speaker from Toronto.

Wm. White recited the poem, "In Flanders Fields." Mrs. Tess Gilkes and her son sang together.

Men in uniform from the Toronto Scottish, Royal Regiment, C.A.S.C. and 15th General Hospital units participated in the service and parade.

Nation At War, That's Why Silence Not Marked - Mayor

COUNCILLOR THINKS TOWN SHOULD HAVE ASKED FOR WHISTLES

"Why were the factory whistles not blown for the two minutes silence on Saturday?" Councillor Frank Bowser asked at a special town council meeting last evening.

"We are at war," replied Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd. "I didn't ask the factories to blow their whistles."

"I was in one of the factories at 11 a.m. and work stopped for the two minutes," said Reeve F. A. Lundy. "I always thought the silence should not be inaugurated with factory whistles."

"I noticed that traffic did not stop and that people on the streets went on as usual," remarked Councillor Wm. Dixon.

"I think the town slipped up by not having the factories blow a couple of short blasts," said Mr. Bowser.

MAYOR URGES GENEROUS SUPPORT OF RED CROSS WORK

An appeal for support of the Red Cross financial campaign preceded the concert held in the town hall on Tuesday evening.

"The Red Cross in Canada during the last war contributed $80,000,000," Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd stated. "As a first donation the Red Cross is asking for $3,000,000, and Ontario is asked to give half of that amount."

"Newmarket is to give $2,500," he said. "I think we will get more than that. During the last war a little mistake was made. The Red Cross did not get going early enough. The first contingent of men were not properly looked after. This time it is being done differently."

Mayor Boyd introduced Alfred Smith, president of the Newmarket Veterans, who gave a firsthand account of Red Cross activities during the last war.

"I was wounded three times and sent to three different hospitals, American, French and "I don't think you will have any difficulty raising the $2,500. My brother was a prisoner of war in Germany for 14 months. The prisoners in Germany would have practically starved if it hadn't been for the Red Cross."

"Please help the Red Cross. They do need it."

TESTED IN TORONTO,

TOWN WATER IS O.K.

"A sample of our domestic water, taken from a house tap, was sent to the provincial laboratory in Toronto the other day for a bacteriological examination and the report was that there were no bacteria present," Dr. J. H. Wesley, M. O. H., told The Era this week.

"Of course, as our water is a closed system, all coming from hundreds of feet below the ground and being pumped into the upper reservoir, the entrance of disease germs to the water could only come from some very unusual source," he said.

"It is well within our memory when the town folk were served with water from domestic wells, that there were always a dozen or more cases of typhoid fever, with the usual number of fatalities."

DR. MARECH WILL TELL "WHY GERMANY CAN'T WIN"

Dr. A. R. Marech speaks at 8 p.m. this evening at Pickering College. An Austrian citizen, intimate with conditions in Germany and Russia, Dr. Marech has been very well received at recent lectures he has given in this country. This is a public forum.

REMEMBRANCE DAY EDITORIAL

A week late are we with our "Remembrance Day" editorial, but how could it be otherwise when we clip it from the Financial Post of Nov. 11? It is not our custom, as our readers know to their sorrow sometimes, to beg, borrow or steal editorials. Our attitude usually is "a poor thing but our own," and we have reason to believe that Era subscribers accept our efforts in the same spirit. We quote with reason, to show that a leading business periodical espouses a possibly unpopular but, we believe, sound viewpoint. It is the viewpoint that we have taken from the outbreak of the war and it is the viewpoint which we hope and pray will prevail when peace comes, much as it may conflict with the outmoded imperialism so easily aroused in any of us by thoughtless leaders.

"Before the hysteria and propaganda of the second world war got too great a hold on us, it is imperative that the peoples of Canada and the allied nations keep a clear vision of what it is we hope to achieve at the end of this present conflict.

"Remembrance Day may serve a double purpose this year: to recall the sacrifices of 1914-1918 and to recall the mistakes of 1919-1939. And we may ask the American people to join us in remembering.

"If the American continent is to prosper in the world of tomorrow we must get a final economic and political settlement out of this war. We cannot get such a settlement unless we measure up to the task of a wise and just peace; unless we try to control the hysteria and hate which made a proper peace settlement difficult, if not impossible, in 1918. Twenty years ago it was the politicians who wrote the peace treaty. The economists ought to be given a hand in the job the next time. Public opinion must be prepared to avoid the pitfalls of the 1918 tragedy.

"But even a treaty of peace cannot produce a settlement. Much more influential than a scrap of paper like a peace treaty in determining the fate of the world will be the economic policies that the nations decide to pursue in the days of reconstruction. That much at least we should have learned in these fateful 21 years.

"Among the policies that are essential to an economic settlement and to continued peace after the war will be these:

"1. Unselfish, courageous, generous policies of lending. There must be free flow of capital across international frontiers. The new world will have to undertake the job of rebuilding the old world. The day will come, as a case in point, when we shall have to help the German people build themselves a new nation and a new economy in which Hitlerism can never again take hold.

"2. There will have to be freer flow of trade between nations. The dragon's teeth of incredibly stupid trade barriers have already raised us a crop of avenging warriors. Let's sow no more dragon's teeth of that kind, but use tariffs to direct trade rather than destroy it.

"3. Above all there must be a genuine effort to settle the unsolved problems of access to raw materials and of redistribution of population.

"At Versailles there was a wild scramble for vantage points from which to fight the next war. There was no effort at economic settlement, and as a result we did not get peace. We merely got a combination of revolutionary and power politics.

"Neither Canada nor the United States can dodge their responsibility for achieving such a settlement.

"We must not lure Europe into a fanciful scheme of collective security and then drop out when our strength is most needed. We must not ask Europe to pay its debts out of an empty treasury and refuse Europe the right to pay those debts with the products their people could produce by manual labor. We must not pour millions of new capital into Europe in a purely speculative fever and then cut off the flow with the abruptness of a guillotine severing a main artery.

"And so on Remembrance Day let us ponder deeply on the fact that winning the war is only part of the battle. Achieving a just and enduring peace, based on economic security, is an equally important objective."

TAX PENALTIES AND HOW TO AVOID THEM

There was a worth-while thought in Mayor Boyd's remarks at last week's town council meeting. He pointed out that unfortunately the people who pay tax penalties are those who can least afford to do so. That is unfortunate, but there is little that the town council can do about it. It would not be feasible to give a discount to those who are slow pay, although business concerns and private individuals sometimes compromise in order to realize a little out of a slow or bad debt.

Income Taxes Preferable

The only way in which it is possible to help "those who can least afford to pay tax penalties" is through making real estate taxation as light as possible and resort to other forms of taxation. A municipality can do little in that direction itself but the mill and a half contribution which municipalities receive from the provincial government is a good example of what can be done. This money is supposed to be a share of the provincial income tax and of the provincial gasoline tax. In other words, it comes from those who can better afford to pay and lightens the burdens of "those who can least afford to pay tax penalties."

Installment Payments

A way in which the town could help its least well-to-do citizens, and others as well, would be to make taxes payable at more frequent intervals, say, quarterly, or, preferably monthly. As Dr. Boyd pointed out last week, it is difficult to get a large amount together in a hurry. A person should set aside a little money from time to time in anticipation of the half-yearly tax payment that will become due, but few people have the foresight to do that. Monthly payment of taxes would help most citizens and the town would collect more of its taxes in return for the additional office-work required. Even business concerns would welcome a system which would fairly distribute taxes over the entire year.

THAT HYDRO SETTLEMENT

(After writing these impressions of last week's council meeting, we talked with Mayor Boyd about the settlement. Mayor Boyd said (1) that the town solicitor, Mr. Mathews, had obtained the best available legal opinion on the contract with the Hydro; (2) that so far as he was concerned Newmarket never would undertake to develop its own power; and (3) that there was little discussion of the settlement last Monday because the councillors had discussed it so much privately and were so familiar with it. Mr. Mathews told The Era that he believed that he had read the legal opinion, referred to by the mayor, to the council in the spring and that he had recommended the acceptance of the settlement. While this information throws a different light on last week's council meeting, and better explains to citizens why their expected rebate of over $10,000 did not materialize, the following article still represents the impression which the average citizen, not in the "know," would have had of last week's meeting.)

Before submitting to the Ontario Hydro's threat that it would dishonor its 1934 agreement (made under a different Hydro chairman), the Newmarket town council, it seems to us, might have given a little more consideration to the strength of its own case. It isn't good business to give up with the remark that "you can't fight a big corporation like the Hydro." Even the lowliest individual has as much right, and will receive as much consideration, in Ontario's courts as the Ontario Hydro-Electric power commission. We doubt very much if Ontario courts would have upheld the Hydro's claim that it was not bound by a duly-made contract to sell power at a flat rate because it was not ratified by the legislature. The courts might well have taken the position that the 1934 agreement was not a new contract but merely an acknowledgment by the Hydro that the original contract inherited by Hydro was still in force. That interpretation would not have conflicted with the Hydro's inability to sell power at any price other than cost.

Legal Opinion Desirable

The council might have heard the town solicitor's opinion, and, with his advice, might have sought the opinion of other learned counsel. Did Newmarket's representatives study the legislation creating the Hydro, or did we just accept the statement that the Hydro's 1934 agreement was invalid?

Would Hydro Have Done It?

There is a good deal of reason to doubt whether the Ontario Hydro could have avoided its obligations to Newmarket without resort to the legislature, and we doubt if Hydro, in view of the criticism it has had to take as the result of its last resort to the legislature in order to avoid its obligations, would have taken that step. At least, we think the issue was not so clear that the council should have disposed of it in a few minutes and rushed through a by-law accepting the Hydro's threat-accompanied offer.

A Forgotten Angle

There was another angle too which deserved consideration. In the $800 report of Mr. McClymont, which uncovered the town's claim against the Hydro and therefore will pay the town cash dividends, there appears the following statement: "You can generate your own power at a cost somewhat below what you are now paying. This includes operation, maintenance and capital charges. Consequently at the termination of the present contract in April, 1945, you will still be in a position to continue to operate your own system at rates which represent a considerable saving to the ratepayers when compared with rates in many Hydro municipalities. There need therefore be no hesitation in making expenditures necessary to put the system on a sound operating basis on account of the short remaining life of the present contract."

Worth Study

Link this with the Hydro's reputed offer to pay the town $15,000 in settlement of its claim, and end the contract in April, 1940, and there is something to give more than a few minutes consideration. It is true that there is a war in progress which has already added a quarter of a cent a gallon to high-grade fuel oil. It is also true that some Diesel engines come from Germany and Britain, and that a Diesel engine purchased from the United States would be increased in cost by reason of the rate of exchange. There is still a situation to be investigated. Would it still be possible to develop power more cheaply than it is now being purchased? Would it be possible to secure a five-year contract for the supply of fuel oil at a fixed price? Money will be borrowed more cheaply now probably than in five years time.

The Forgotten Fear

Let us remember that we are going ahead with heavy expenditures on our present system on the strength of the reassurance contained in the paragraph quoted from the McClymont report. Mr. McClymont did not say that the changes which Newmarket is now making will be satisfactory to the Ontario Hydro when and if Newmarket should become a Hydro municipality, but that, for the reasons given, Newmarket doesn't need to worry about whether the improvements are satisfactory to the Hydro or not.

Too Much Haste

On this question Mr. McClymont might have been consulted again and his opinion made available to the citizens before the council reached a decision. On the legal question the town solicitor might have been consulted and his opinion made available to the public before the council reached its decision. The public's opinion is always worth hearing. Or did the Ontario Hydro put its various offers in the form of an ultimatum requiring an immediate decision?

DISCOUNT ON WATER AND LIGHT

Now that the town has a billing-machine that will figure a problem out in the time a human being would have been rolling up his shirt-sleeves, it might be a good idea to add a notation to the water and light bills saying: "Your bill will be only blank-blank dollars and cents if paid on or before the 15th (or other date) of the month." A ten per cent discount would not be too much to allow for prompt payment.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Some towns observed Remembrance Day and some did not. In some the stores closed all day and in some from 10.30 a.m. until noon or one. Newmarket, for the first time in 20 years, did not seem to observe the customary two minutes' silence. In other years the factory whistles have blown the signal for the silence but this year none gave the signal and most people carried on as usual. Newmarket people, we think, were right. In other years they gave thanks for the "cease fire" which came on Nov. 11, 1918, and they prayed that it might be a permanent peace. This year all that remained were the sacrifices (the lives lost and spoiled in the great struggle and the great debt burdens) of 1914-18. Remembrance Day will be restored to its old place and be given new meaning when this war is done. Gradually, as men become sure that at last they have achieved permanent peace, it may become a day of thanksgiving for all the world.

Lagunillas, South American village on stilts, was the scene of a tragic fire on Monday when it is reported that more than 500 people lost their lives. The town was one of the major oil terminals of Venezuela.

A British destroyer struck a mine and sank, the British admiralty has announced, presumably while on submarine patrol on Tuesday morning early. This is the third warship that the British have lost since the outbreak of the war.

An anti-monarchist purge was reported to be taking place in Germany this week, following the recent beer-cellar explosion at Munich. Rumor indicates that five princes and nine generals have been arrested and that Prince Friedrich, the Kaiser's favorite grandson, has been executed.

Col. R. J. E. Graham, ex-mayor of Belleville, lost his life near Madoc on Sunday, when his plane made a forced landing on a lake and overturned. The pilot, Ellsworth Rogers of Toronto, was unable to climb to safety but was unable to extricate his companion, who was drowned.

The most violent earthquake in 15 years occurred in the Vancouver and Victoria districts and in the State of Washington on Sunday night. Although little damage was reported, many people spent the rest of the night in auto camps.

No casualties resulted from a German air raid on the Shetland Islands on Monday, when it is believed that 12 bombs were dropped by four planes.

City and provincial police raided the offices of the Toronto leftist weekly newspaper, the Clarion, this week. No arrests were made although it is thought that books and records were seized.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton of Keswick have moved to Newmarket and taken up residence on Simcoe St.

Miss Helen Strachan of Toronto was the guest of Miss Florence Cane a few days last week.

Mr. B. Tomlinson and daughter, Mrs. J. Clark, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. S. C. McKewon on Friday last week.

Mrs. R. G. English of Amesbury, Mass., after spending the past two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Morton Joseph St., returned home last Thursday.

Mrs. R. C. Offord of Hamilton is spending a few days with her nephew, Mr. L. C. Bogart, and friends.

BORN—In Newmarket, Nov. 7, to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cane, a son.

MARRIED—At St. Andrew's manse, King, on Nov. 4, by Rev. R. Brydon, B. A., Christian M. Ferguson to Edward M. Payne.

DIED—In Newmarket, Nov. 8, Lydia Mann, wife of Alfred McCarty, in her 80th year.

Telegram, as well as many newspapers throughout the province, are opposing the Hon. Eric Cross' proposed suspension of municipal elections. Perhaps we should not say "proposed," for Mr. Cross presented his idea in the form of a thing accomplished, with the approval of the legislature to follow as a matter of course. Everyone knows that the government can secure legislative approval for any of its proposals, but it is customary for a minister of the crown to pay the legislature and the people the compliment of submitting the matter to the legislature for debate.

What He Might Have Done

In this instance, Mr. Cross had to make his announcement before the approaching municipal elections are held, so that people would know that their councils would be in office for at least two years. We think Mr. Cross might have merely notified the public that he would present his proposal to the legislature and that the public should be prepared for the possibility that the councils elected at the end of this year might be in office for two years or longer. That would seem more democratic procedure.

Under Fire

Mr. Cross was not content to "fly a kite." He loaded his ship with gasoline and took off on a trans-continental flight without warning to the public. It is no wonder that the anti-aircraft guns are "popping."

The Common Round

"CLOUD OF WITNESSES"

By Isabel Inglis Colville

Wasn't it St. Paul who said, "Seeing we are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses?"

By the time this goes to print, another anniversary of Armistice Day will have gone from the volcanic present to follow its predecessors into the uneasy past.

There has never, I suppose, been a real peace celebration. On the first Armistice Day the Allies, flushed with victory, thought, if anyone, unless the bereaved, really thought, on that mad, hectic day—either of two things, that it would have been better to go on fighting a little longer and ensure a lasting victory; or that such terms would be dictated to Germany as to forestall the remotest possibility of her ever again facing the Allies on the battlefield.

One wonders if a faint reflection of the Golden Rule had entered into the Treaty of Versailles if the present debacle would ever have occurred.

But the sense of being crushed, if suppression is like covering a preparation of yeast, it is bound to effervesce, and the lid will fly off.

In Germany the lid was helped off and more yeast added, by a man who took advantage of the situation, not from love of Germany, but from love of power, a passion which knew no limitations.

Other men, down through the ages, have seized power and used it much as Herr Hitler has done, and their pomp of yesterday is one with Nineveh and Tyre—one wonders if Herr Hitler reads history.

But when I began this article, I was thinking of the silent armies which marched home to the various countries, with the victors and the vanquished.

And surely that silent army, that "cloud of witnesses," was a vivid reality to many of us.

Members of it marched beside mothers and fathers, wives and sweethearts, who, amid the general rejoicing, saw shadowy forms and faces where once strong, well-loved figures proudly walked.

We speak of them as dead—those valiant hearts—and yet, perhaps more than anything or anyone else, they have been factors in the reluctance of the democracies to enter into war.

They, those lads from our homes, gave their all so generously, so splendidly, that nothing short of tragic necessity would even make their countries ask the same sacrifice of their successors.

One feels it is the invisible might of that silent army which whispers to our leaders, "check impulse; conserve the lives committed to your care."

As Armistice Day comes round each year, it brings back two pictures—pictures so vivid that time has no power to erase them. We have the moving picture of the men who marched away; that picture is gay and colorful; set to music, with the weeping down in the privacy of home, lest anything mar the glory of that going.

We have the other picture—the return of those who made the passage perilous. This picture, with always a background of shadowy forms—one felt their presence—in more sombre colors, with only the weeping of thanksgiving or of bereavement as an accompaniment.

We feel, most of us, that this war is a stern and bitter necessity, and that again men must lay down their lives to ensure the right to live normal, useful lives; not to exist in a state of tension and fear, and if we believe St. Paul, over all is a great "cloud of witnesses."

The memory of them should inspire our leaders to face the post-war problems in a way that will make the ideals for which they gave their all, the sure and lasting corner-stones in the foundation of a world peace.

The silent army, "the cloud of witnesses," live on, in our hearts—they fight the good fight of faith, and faith can move mountains!

ROB ROBIN CAN'T TAKE IT

BY RUTH DINGMAN HERB

"Why, Rob Robin, you're shivering!" exclaimed Slaty, the Junco, as he hopped around the garden with some of his friends.

"I know it," snapped back Rob, rather irritably. "I'm cold."

"I'm sure I don't know why I've stayed in this bleak country this long. I'm leaving tomorrow."

"I thought you liked it here," called Young Chips, the Chickadee, from the tip of a spruce tree branch.

"I do like it in the spring and summer," replied the Robin, "but some of these November days have been almost uncivilized. Why there's even been snow."

"Pooh, that won't hurt you," scoffed Young Chips. "We don't mind snow, do we Slaty?"

"No, of course not," replied Slaty in a teasing voice. "You don't either, do you, Mr. Purple Finch?"

"Certainly not," came a voice from the same tree which the Chickadee was exploring. The speaker was a fairly small bird, not much bigger than the Chickadee. He was a streaky olive-brown color.

"You're only a youngster, you've never experienced a cold winter yet—so you don't know what you're talking about," protested Rob Robin.

"I may be young, but I can sing just as well as my father," said the Finch. "Besides, how do you know how old I am?"

"It's simple," said the Robin. "Your feathers aren't a nice, purple rose color like the adult male Finch's should be."

"Well, anyway, I'm sure I'll like the cold weather," said the young Finch. "All our family like southern Ontario in the winter. We're not afraid of snow. You're not either, are you Mr. Brown Creeper?"

"What? Was someone speaking to me?" inquired a startled voice, and shy little Brownie, the Brown Creeper, stopped circling up a big tree trunk and spoke to the crowd.

"No, we Creepers generally spend quite a good deal of the winter in these parts," he said. "What did you want to know for?"

"They're all teasing poor Rob Robin for feeling the cold and wanting to go south," explained one of the Juncos. "The rest of us don't mind the snow."

"Here's someone else who agrees with Rob," said a pleasant little voice from a large bush. "I'm going away the very next good day for travelling."

"Why, it's Carol Songsparrow," exclaimed Rob. "I'm glad I've got some support."

"Oh, several of the migrating birds haven't gone yet," said Carol. "Some of the Meadowlarks are still around and some Purple Grackles, and, of course, Crows."

"Well, I don't mind saying that I hope there are some kind-hearted folks who put out feeding stations for the birds this winter," said Woody Woodpecker. "Even though we are winter birds there are a great many of us to be fed and we certainly appreciate a little assistance."

"If I thought there was going to be a real, good, reliable feeding station put up right away and kept supplied with food all winter, I'd stay right here and avoid that long, dangerous journey south," said Carol Songsparrow eagerly. "I don't mind the weather if I'm sure of a food supply."

"In other words," said Young Chips, "any bird lover who wants your company this winter had better get busy and get some food out."

"Yes, and that applies to lots of other birds too," said Woody Woodpecker. "It's not only the birds who usually go south that might be persuaded to hang around if food were put out—but we winter birds are attracted too. I know I like to shop around for my winter provisions and I won't stay in a place that doesn't seem to have a good food supply."

"But believe me," he added, "I'll jolly well stay near a feeding box if I find one. I hope I find some nice little lumps of suet hung outside someone's window, tied up in a piece of old curtain net. Yum! Yum!"

"It's great sport whirling around and around in mid-air as you hang on to the bag of suet," said Young Chips. "The trouble is—just try and persuade your chums to take turns. People are so greedy."

"I'm sure I don't know any greedy Downy Woodpeckers," said Woody firmly.

"We won't quarrel about it until we find some bags of suet," said Young Chips.

"If I don't tell you about it," promised Woody.

"Oh, yes, you will," said Young Chips. "You know perfectly well that you can't help telling your friends about it the minute you discover anything like that—and in a few minutes there's quite a little crowd of birds enjoying the feast."

"It's my generous nature getting the better of my good sense then," said Woody as he flew away to another tree.

Oh! Take It!

I am glad that I am not a lawyer. They have to use such involved language. Now, when a man like you, or me, gives an orange to another, all he says is: "Here is an orange," and the matter is ended. If a lawyer gives an orange, he says: "Here, with I make over to you all interest, demands, and rights of this fruit, its peel, pulp, juice and pips. You have full authority to bite, eat, squeeze, or press it, or give it to a further owner, with or without peel, juice, pulp, or pips."

POLICE COURT

POLICE COURT MOVES TO WINTER QUARTERS

The police court session held here on Tuesday and presided over by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe lasted an hour. Several major charges were adjourned one week for hearing.

Commencing next Tuesday, Nov. 21, the police court sessions will be held in the council chambers over the fire hall instead of at the town hall.

Bail of $2,000 was renewed for William Graham, Holland Landing, who is charged with having possession of a still and having possession of a quantity of illegal spirits. The charges, laid by Constable Hayward, R. C. M. P., were adjourned one week for hearing.

Three charges of attempting to break and enter, being drunk in a public place, and aggravated assault on a police officer, laid against William Cobbin, Scott township, were also adjourned one week. The charges were laid by Constable George Longhurst, Mount Albert.

Wm. N. Anglin, Orillia, speeding, 65 m.p.h. on Yonge St., $10 and costs, charge laid by Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson.

Earle Rosewarne, Bracebridge, speeding, $10 and costs, charge laid by Provincial Constable Ferguson.

William Specchuk, Toronto, attempting to pass when the road ahead was not clear of approaching traffic, $5 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Kenneth Bishop, Newmarket, bad lights, $1 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Dominion Brake Co., Toronto, having an illegal license, $10 and costs, charge laid by County Constable Wm. Martindale.

A charge of not paying wages laid against James Ferguson, King township, was dismissed when the complainant W. T. Smith, Toronto, failed to appear.

A charge of careless driving laid against Nelson F. Nicholson, Toronto, was also dismissed.

"I was called to the scene of an accident at the Bond Lake curve on the morning of Oct. 22," testified Constable Ferguson. "I found the Nicholson car on its side and it had turned over twice. I traced skidmarks for 100 feet extending from the middle of the road. A soft snow had fallen and the driving was dangerous. Two people received painful injuries in the accident and they were taken to the hospital. The driver couldn't account for the accident but in my opinion he was driving too fast."

"I have been driving for several years and have never been in an accident before," stated Nicholson. "I had slowed down to below 40 m.p.h. when I started to go around the curve and all at once I got the feeling that my car was going to fly. There was some vegetation wrapped in wax paper on the highway and I might have struck that."

"This is one of those cases where it is hard to say what happened," stated Magistrate Woodliffe. "I can't see any evidence of reckless driving, only in the result. I think the accident was caused by the wet pavement."

A charge of theft of a quantity of cordwood laid against Jack and Charles Turner, Toronto, was also dismissed. Eli Silpa, East Gwillimbury, was the complainant.

"On Sept. 16, when I was in the Christie St. hospital, Charles Turner came to the hospital and asked me if I had any wood and I told him yes," stated Mr. Silpa. "He made an agreement with me to get the wood but he was to pay for it first. He paid me part of the money and was supposed to pay me the balance the next day before going for the wood. When I returned from the hospital the wood had gone but I had not received the money. About three weeks ago I found out the address of the pair and the charge was laid against them. They both came to see me last night and they said that they took the wood and that they were willing to pay for it, so I would like to have the charge withdrawn if they will pay me the money."

"Did you and your brother take the wood?" asked Mr. Mathews. "Yes," answered Charles Turner. "I went to the hospital and I agreed to pay $25 for the wood and I paid him $13. Mr. Silpa gave me a letter to give to his wife so that we could get the wood. The wife wasn't home when we got there, so we showed it to another man."

The letter was produced in court and as it was written in Finnish, Mr. Silpa was asked to translate it. "I told Mr. Silpa that I would pay the rest of the money the following day but I didn't pay him and I still owe $12," stated Charles Turner.

"This is a civil case but if you owe him the $12 you had better pay it," stated Magistrate Woodliffe in dismissing the case.

PYGMALION AND GALATEA (Contributed)

We hope you have forgotten the story of the Green Sculptor Pygmalion and the statue "Galatea" he created, because if you have, it will be so much more fun and surprise to you when you come to see this delightful play by Sir W. S. Gilbert on Dec. 7 and 8, presented by Mrs. A. N. Belugin for the benefit of the Newmarket Red Cross Society.

You will see the "ancient Greeks" in their flowing robes, the specially designed scenery, executed by Mr. Hopkinson, and you will hear the Comedy (with a capital C) which will keep you laughing from alpha to omega (that's Greek for A to Z).

And that isn't all. There will be delightful singing by Miss Jean Davis, whom a Newmarket audience has not heard as yet.

You will see dancing by a dozen of the most winsome of the town's damsels. Dancing in the "Vienna Woods" (new scenery) and in a Turkish harem (oh, boy!) (again new scenery), arranged by Mrs. R. B. Canham, with Mrs. D. O. Mungovan and Mrs. Tom Leach at the piano, not to mention the frolicking songs and dances by the little tots who will open the show.

You shall get your money's worth and the Red Cross will get your money.

Incidentally, some public-spirited citizens are taking care of the heaviest expenses.

UNITED FARMERS MARK 25 YEARS

Twenty-five years ago last March farmers from all over Ontario journeyed to Toronto to a big meeting in the Labor Temple, where they organized the United Farmers of Ontario and the United Farmers Co-operative Company. At their convention on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week in the King Edward hotel, Toronto, the United Farmers will celebrate their silver jubilee with a number of special anniversary features.

One of the most outstanding of these, no doubt, will be a monologue giving the highlights of the farm movement from its inception up to the present time with pictures thrown on a screen to illustrate the story as it unfolds. All who have been prominent in the movement for years back are being invited to attend and they will be introduced to the convention. Also there will be an anniversary banquet with a big silver jubilee cake.

Tuesday, the opening day, brings an open farm conference, will be devoted entirely to the position of agriculture. Much interest is being shown in the panel discussion which will be conducted following the address.

Films of the Nova Scotia co-operative movement, film slides, the amateur contest, a tour for the young people through the parliament buildings and the Royal Ontario Museum, and the dance with Romanelli's orchestra are some of the other special features.

In Memoriam

Graves—In loving memory of a dear mother, Rosie Emma Graves, who was called away Nov. 18, 1937.

Two years have gone, how swift time flies.
But love's sweet memory never dies;
A day of remembrance sad to recall,
The loss of a mother, best friend of all.

Ever remembered by son, Delbert, and wife.

Haffie—In memory of our dear father, William Haffie, who, one year ago, passed from us to a happier home for him.

My heart is filled with sadness
When your face, back home, I see
No more.

But I know we'll meet in gladness
On Heaven's bright and shining shore.

Ever remembered by daughter, Dora, of Sudbury.

Haffie—Resounding echoes, and lines to father, William Haffie, on behalf of our dear sister, Carrie, who just a few weeks later, departed from our midst.

"I just can't live without him."
I often wonder did he know
That she too, so soon, might go
To help him some, "parchance beyond."

He was not strong enough to meet
The task her dear heart bled to do.
Looks like the "Saviour swung that gate"

And hid them both pass through.
How very merciful, and kind
Our aged father was not left to bear

The sorrow of his passing child.
To whom he turned so oft for care.

"Tis not, we ever more should grieve
Our lives could be but agony.
Far greater joys, "if we believe"
Beyond that "Cross of Calvary."

Never forgotten by sister, Dora.

CAID OF THANKS

TELLS OF BROTHER

EXPECTING AIR RAIDS

Newmarket, both the city of that name in England and this Canadian town, is the home of "thoroughbreds," Herbert Hall, Hamilton, district governor of Lions clubs, told the Newmarket club on Monday evening.

"Your club has a wonderful record of welfare work," declared Mr. Hall, who was making his annual visit.

Mr. Hall spoke on the Lions club motto, "Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety," the first letter of each word making up the club name.

Speaking on liberty, Mr. Hall said: "Communism is a state of society in which there is nothing to eat and it is equally divided. Fascism is one in which there is nothing to eat and everybody has it."

"Under the present world regime I believe that a certain amount of arms are necessary," said Mr. Hall. He read a letter which he had received from his brother in London, England: "There is intense anxiety over here. We are all worried as to whether we will all be right into the war next week. I have been delivering gas-masks. We live in a top storey, unfortunately, for if a high explosive bomb should fall we would all be blown sky-high. We are right on the line of air-raids. At any rate, we are not funky."

"Don't do away with arms as long as there is a bully in the world who would do away with your liberty, but the sword is expensive," continued Mr. Hall. "Arms will prove the undoing of all of us. Lionism is incompatible with war. The nation's safety will never be solved until there is no more war, until swords are beaten into plowshares. May that day be hastened."

"How glad we are that we belong to this country, that we are Canadians," commented J. E. Nesbitt, in moving a vote of thanks "How glad we are that we have our neighbors to the south who think the same as we do."

Following the address Arthur Pugh, of Barrie Lions club, and Edward Webster, Hamilton, district governor's secretary, spoke briefly.

A group from the Newmarket club will accompany Deputy-District Governor W

AURORA REINS

PLAY S. P. A. FRIDAY

Ellis Pringle, of Bradford, will coach the Aurora Junior hockey club this season, according to a statement released by club officials.

Pringle, in his debut as coach, should prove a decided success if personality and playing experience count for anything. Pringle, it will be remembered, was a star for several seasons in junior hockey with the famed Newmarket Redmen, which included Bill Thoms, Dodge Collings, Herb Cain and other luminaries on their lineup back in 1927 and 1928.

The following season he played with Marlboros and later turned professional under the wing of the New York Americans, alternating back and forth between the N.H.L. and the minor leagues. He saw active service with New Haven, Springfield, Windsor and Philadelphia and also performed in the western pro loop.

Pringle had charge of the team at a practice held at Ravina Gardens, Toronto, last night and he sent the boys through a rousing one hour and a half of practice.

Tomorrow evening at 7.30 the local team takes the ice at the Maple Leaf Gardens in the opening game of the S.P.A. series against the Galt Terrier Pups, coached by Mickey Murray. Coach

HELP RED CROSS

The local branch of the Red Cross added $78 to its coffers last week as the result of the bridge held by the Aurora Liberal Women's Association and the midnight theatre party held Nov. 10 at the Royal theatre.

Pringle does not expect too much from his proteges so far as this game is concerned, as the Galt boys have been practising on artificial ice in their own arena for nearly a month and should be in top condition, while the Aurora boys will be taking the ice for the third time this season.

With so many new players on hand it will take several weeks before the coach can separate the wheat from the chaff. The team will be picked from the following players, with 17 in action: Joe Tunney, Joe McGhee, F. Michanuk, E. McComb, J. Cummings, P. Donkin, P. Knowles, R. Lloyd, W. Thompson, H. Folliott, H. DR. UNDERHILL, ATHLETE, DIES

OUTSTANDING CITIZEN.
MEMBER OF SCHOOL BOARD, DIES

Aurora mourns the loss this week of one of its most outstanding personalities, Dr. Eugene V. Underhill, D.D.S., L.D.S., who died early Sunday morning at St. Michael's hospital, Toronto, following two serious operations.

The deceased was in his 41st year, and was born at Claremont, coming to Aurora with his family about 35 years ago. He was educated at Aurora public and high schools, and in 1922 he graduated from the Royal College of Dental Surgeons. Upon graduation he opened an office here in his home town and remained in practice here until the time of his death.

On February 14, 1916, at the age of 17, while still at high school, in company with three schoolmates, he enlisted with the signal corps, then a part of the Royal Canadian Engineers. At Ottawa he was seized with an illness and was subsequently discharged from active service owing to his physical condition.

The annual old English dinner sponsored by the Women's Guild of the Anglican church was held on Wednesday evening, Nov. 8, in the church basement. The local clergy conducted the service with Miss M. Lloyd at the piano. Rev. W. J. Burton of Kettleby, and also a veteran, gave splendid addresses. Following the service the veterans, led by a pipe band, marched to the cenotaph.

The school children paraded after the veterans. Wreaths were laid and the "Last Post" and "Reveille" sounded. Rev. F. V. Abbott and Rev. Mr. McEwen read prayers and scripture. Then all stood at attention for the national anthem.

The softball club, which achieved honor as the winners of the rural Ontario intermediate championship, are planning a supper, to be held in the town hall on Nov. 22, and are hoping their many friends will be on hand to swell the crowd and the pocket book.

THE CHRYSANTHEMUMS

Your ragged beauty charms my eye;
Chrysanthemum.

You hold our tousled head so high
Chrysanthemum.
Have you been racing with the wind
And left your hairpins all behind,
Or do you mean to be unkind?
Chrysanthemum.

Shake back those locks and show your face
Chrysanthemum.

I long its beauteous lines to trace.
Chrysanthemum.

Thou expert of the coquette's art,
Thy glorious rays have pierced my heart,
And pierced as with Cupid's darts.
Chrysanthemum.

I thought that summer's bloom had passed,
Chrysanthemum.

But like good wine she kept you last;
Chrysanthemum.

And when November's storm clouds lowered,
The sun this wealth of beauty showered,
And laughed as he the earth embowered
Chrysanthemum.

But yet you shake your saucy head;
Chrysanthemum.

You who on sunbeams bright are fed,
Chrysanthemum.

Thou glorious link 'twixt summer skies,
And winter's white robed beauty lies
To us a glimpse of paradise,
Chrysanthemum.

Allice A. Ferguson,
R. R. 3 King.

WHITCHURCH TOWNSHIP
DOGS KILL TWO
PICKERING SHEEP

Six hundred farm owners have taken advantage of the offer made last summer by the county agricultural representative at Newmarket to test soil for them in a scientific way. It was disclosed before the November meeting of Whitchurch township council on Saturday.

Those farmers who still have containers may yet avail themselves of the offer. Mr. Cockburn reports, by leaving samples with any councillor or the reeve. No expense is entailed and valuable information is obtained, chief of which is just what the particular soil lacks to give maximum production. The fact that fertilizer produces increased production is no longer refuted, but the type of fertilizer needed can only be known by soil-testing.

Saturday's session of council was not productive of any real news, and business was light. Two small sheep claims indicated that mutton-eating dogs are at large. Pickering college farm, through S. W. King, manager, made claim for two animals killed and two injured and received $30.40. Morley Cook lost three killed by dogs and was compensated to the extent of $27.

Because the road expenditures have been so well kept within the estimates, council was disposed to double its order for snow fencing, and will place in use this year 3,000 feet of new fence, instead of 3,000 previously decided on. Prices will be upward in a few weeks, it was stated.

The regular December meeting of council was set for the first Saturday in December instead of the usual date of the second Saturday. All parties having business to transact are requested to keep this intimation in mind.

The statutory by-law providing polling-places, deputy returning officers and poll-clerks was given its several readings and passed. The polling-places and presiding officers will be as follows in event an election is demanded:

Div. 1, W. Browning's house, Russell Brewery, D.R.O., Chas. Bowser, poll clerk; div. 2, R. Allin's house, C. Bolander and C. McCormack's house, John Mitchell and Wm. Card.

SLAPS 'N' SCRAPS

WHERE

By RALPH M.
ADAMS

They say the frost is on the pumpkin but the last few nites the frost has been on this town pumpkin. Boy, I nearly froze to death this week (condolences, customers, I didn't kick the bucket).

However, the snap in the air does remind us that hockey is just around the corner, and pro puckchasing is a reality.

Monday evening this burg's new Redmen opened the season in the high school gym, opponent
Mr. Westbrook, who beat them soundly in a fast game of P.T.

Who said no casualties? Ask some of the boys how they felt Tuesday.

Right now on the squad I'll bet there are more sore backs and stiff muscles than the team will have all winter, and the more power to Westy. If he can limber them up enough now, they will miss plenty of bruises later on this winter.

With the wealth of material that turned out to the P. T. jerks on Monday (between 35 and 40)
there should be plenty of competition for every post.

Competition is the essence of good teams in every sport, with plenty of opposition. The so-called sure-fire player has to show up as good as the rookie that is trying to replace him.
Thus, no matter who wins out,
there are no weak sisters.

All last year's good juveniles, plus three or four of the boys who played with the Aurora juniors last season, coupled with a flock of newcomers, should make the '40 edition of the cannotowners worthy torch-bearers of the Redmen's well-known fighting qualities.

Some of the local fans, I'm afraid, won't exactly know how to act at a junior game (it's so long since we had them here).
However, if they turn in the same high-class game of enthusiasm they formerly did, this old burg won't be long going places in the junior O. H. A. world again.

So you rabid junior fans, come out this winter and back this new teen-age aggregation to the limit. Give the boys the encouragement they deserve; let's not have them playing out of town any more. One mistake should be enough.

While ticking out this column, your scribe wishes to extend an orchid to the Pickering College football team on their unbeaten and untied season, being the first in the history of the school, I believe.

The silver and blue mopped up such formidable opponents as Trinity, Lakefield, U. T. S. and St. Mike's without faltering, and some of the posies should drift in the direction of Coach Had-getts, who turned in a swell job of master-minding.

Along the grapevine . . .
Western's Mustangs copped the intercollegiate loop in handy attack . . . Balmy Beach (the R. S. A. band's favorite team) passed from the picture when they went over the road in Sarnia . . . Argos play blood and thunder in the federal capital on Saturday and it would be kind of nice if Storey turned tortoise and the Roughriders won the eastern title . . . Certainly would be swell to have someone else play the west for the championship, other than Toronto or Hamilton . . . Perhaps Varsity has the finals signed up for 15 years in advance like the Maple Leaf Gardens have the O. H. A. finals . . . Remember when Hamilton Tigers kicked and finally dropped out because they wanted just half of the finals in their own city before the fans who had supported them all season . . . Then and not before did the public know of the Gardens contract . . . Great tie-up, Gardens and O. H. A. Just like that . . . Money is the thing, whether sports suffer or not.
Whether some little club takes a licking that closes it up or not,
the lion must get his share . . .
And they talk about Chicago in its heyday, up both sleeves I'm telling . . . My man Friday says Johnny O'Connor, our slugging welter, has an offer from Farr, a promoter in Calgary, to scrap this winter or next spring . . .
Johnny should get plenty of experience if he accepts this offer and personally this column thinks he will . . . This offer also included Tommy Burke, the local feather, but I heard the other day that Tommy is humming "South of the Border," and meaning it next year some

PEPPER AND SALT

BY "PEE"

The N. H. S. wound up its inter-school pigskin season last Thursday, suffering a close defeat at the hands of the Pickering Seconds. The game ended 5-2 in favor of the blueshirts.
This was the second engagement between these two senior squads and also the secondum blackout for the never-say-die boys.

Bad luck and inexperience spelled the defeat of Fifth and Company. Bill Jelley ran back a kick-off, at the start of the third quarter, from his own 20 over the collegians' goal-line, but the touch wasn't allowed.
Still the purple and gold array was badly out-generalled when Pickering started a power drive in the last quarter.

This closed a football season certainly not productive in victories for the high schoolers, but at least productive in experience and keen enjoyment of the game.
After all, rugby is one game that requires something else besides skill, stamina and victories; it requires a fighting and chival-rous spirit.

A good number of potential junior C hockeyists were on hand Monday night for the first skateless practice in the high school gymnasium. Physical jerks were the order of the night. The final test will come with the initial ice practices.

Sutton fans expect to have both intermediate and junior teams this year. A few tears will be shed over the absence of those cross-purpose intermediate games engaged in by the Greenshirts and the Newmarket Redmen in seasons gone by. Here's hoping that, unlike vaudeville, they will come back stronger than ever.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

By GOLDEN GLOW

In Friday evening's "Star," Nov. 10, in "Believe it or not"
is a picture of a merman of Aden in the Red Sea, and underneath are the words: "A fake that fooled Europeans for centuries! Sir Walter Raleigh told Queen Elizabeth of having seen one—and the city of Modena, Italy, has a specimen that cost $25,000. It is nothing more than a clever combination of a monkey and a fish."
Well, my dear readers, I have also, in company with many more of our town citizens, been fooled too, if all that is so! But I don't believe it! With my own eyes I saw one, and if Mrs. Howard Cane reads this, she can corroborate all I say here for she owns the specimen! It was several years ago, and the occasion was the exhibit of manual training and domestic science, over at the Stuart Scott school.

Well do I recall it, for as I stepped out of the car and walked over to the school entrance, I wondered at the crowd collected there, and their evident excitement. The former principal was there, Mr. Cornell, and Mrs. Cane—and when they saw me coming they greeted me very smilingly, while several boys and girls rushed to tell me what was the object of their excitement, and urge me forward to see the "merman." I cannot believe it was a fake, for at the time there was a discussion in the papers concerning the authenticity of the stories of mermen seen by seamen at various times, and it was proven to be the truth.

It surely is a peculiar looking creature, but why should it be a fake? The upper part looks human, while the lower part is fish. Don't you suppose there must have been some solid foundation for the universal belief of people in mermaids and mermen?

That merman, over at the school that evening, surely created a furore! We talked about it for days, wrote about it in the papers, the high school students studied it in their zoology class. Mr. Kidd, I am sure, will recall it. Maybe he would be kind enough to write a little article to tell us I am correct. If it had been a fake wouldn't they have found it out?
And I am sure Mr. Jackson will also recall it as well as Mr. Cornell. I do wish somebody else would add a line to this and we could all unite in writing to Mr.

month . . . With both Cain and Molyneux transferring their allegiance to Boston and Cleveland respectively, the local fans' interest will naturally shift to these outfalls . . . Till next edition your scribe retires.

MOUNT ALBERT PUBLIC MAN STRICKEN WHILE OUT HUNTING

The news, which spread around the town on Thursday evening of last week, that Mr. Milton Mainprize had suffered a stroke while hunting up north, was quickly followed on Friday with the news that he had passed away in St. Joseph's hospital, Parry Sound.

While on his runway at Moorhead camp hunting ground he was suddenly taken ill and was rushed by train to Parry Sound where he was met by his wife and son.

Mr. Mainprize was brought home Saturday morning, and the funeral was held on Monday from the United church with Rev. R. V. Wilson in charge of the service. Mr. Wilson spoke very nicely of the great community spirit of Mr. Mainprize.

Mr. Mainprize took a pride in civic affairs and did not leave his share for someone else to do, but rather did more than his share and did it humbly, from a deep love of people and of duty. He loved children and all they who knew him loved him in return. He was always working for anything that would give pleasure to the community.

Mr. Mainprize was chairman of the park board since the beginning, was on the board of the town hall, a police trustee and manager of Mount Albert telephone company.

Mr. Mainprize has always been a staunch Liberal and took an active part in the North York Liberal association, being president of the Mount Albert Liberal Association. He was also president of the local club.

A member of the Christian church, Mr. Mainprize had attended the United for some years, as there is no Christian church at Mount Albert.

The village has suffered a loss and the many organizations to which he belonged are going to find it hard to fill his place. He is survived by his widow, formerly Eliza Shaw and one son, Lorne, of Toronto.

Mr. Mainprize was the son of the late William Mainprize, a pioneer of this community, who farmed on the farm now occupied by Mr. Scott Croone, on the centre road, and where the deceased also farmed until coming to Mount Albert some years ago.

He was one of a family of twelve children, of whom still survive, Mrs. Geo. Haigh of Winnipeg, Mrs. William Sawdon, Newmarket, Mrs. Geo. Harrison of Mount Albert, Edgar, Ravenshoe, and Albert of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Mainprize was laid to rest in Mount Albert cemetery, leaving a memory of one who had set a marvellous example of community spirit.

Pallbearers were Ed. Haigh, Ethan Haigh, Walter Hirst, A. Harrison, Robert Mainprize and Glen Shaw.

Mr. Donald Stewart spent the weekend at Picton, bringing his mother home from a visit at the home of her brother, Mr. Gordon Wagg.

Mr. Bruce Ross and Barry of Toronto were at the home of his mother, Mrs. H. Ross, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Mainprize are spending a few days with Mr.

KESWICK SELLS PRIZE BULL TO JAMAICA HERD

R. B. Henry arrived home Saturday from Montreal after shipping his Guernsey bull, Donlanda Langwater Prince 2nd, to the experimental farm, Hope, Kingston, Jamaica.

This bull has proven himself a very successful prize-winner this year, winning four firsts, three championships and two silver cups. All congratulate Mr. Henry on his success.

Mainprize's mother, Mrs. M. Mainprize.

A memorial service was held at the park gates on Sunday afternoon when many citizens and veterans of the last Great War gathered to do honor to the memory of their comrades who made the supreme sacrifice.

The service was taken by Rev. R. V. Wilson and Mrs. Duncan Stokes placed the memorial wreath. The Last Post was sounded by Geo. Price, Veterans from Newmarket, Queensville and Sharon joined Mount Albert. Lunch followed the program at the home of H. G. Barnes, and an hour or two was spent in singing old time war songs.

Mrs. William Harrison is slightly improved after being confined to bed for some weeks.

Mrs. Clarence Harten was taken to York county hospital on Saturday, and on Monday she underwent a rather serious operation. All are glad to hear she is recovering nicely.

The annual hot supper of the United church was held on Wednesday evening of last week, and after everyone had partaken of turkey and all the other good things of which there was a generous supply, an excellent program of high-class music was given to a capacity crowd in both the community hall and the United church, by the Toronto Treble choir under the direction of Mrs. Cora Buchner.

The quartette, composed of Mesdames Wakeling, Ward, Milner and Moulding, rendered several pleasing melodies such as, "The Rosary," Brahms' "Lullaby" and Offenbach's "Barcarolle." Miss Gregg played the piano and Mrs. Buchner the violin, and both showed themselves skilled musicians, rendering their pieces with great skill and delicacy of feeling.

Lorne Price, baritone soloist, sang most pleasingly and displayed a voice of great volume under excellent control. An elocutionist gave several recitations which pleased the people.

A surprise number was the awarding of a silver cup to Mr.

Wilson for horseshoe pitching, which he won at the College in the Woods, at Huntsville. Mrs. Buchner presented this cup on behalf of the donor, F. T. Graham of the St. Clair Ave. Y.M.C.A., who was unable to be present himself.

The proceeds of the supper amounted to about $350.

On Friday evening, Nov. 17, a group of young ladies will be at the Gospel church, (U.F.O. hall), and will play guitars. Children will repeat the books of the entire Bible in competition. First prize will be a pen and pencil set. Sunday-school will be held at 2:30 p.m.

On Sunday evening, the Sunshine group will again be here and will play violin, guitar and mouth organ music.

Mr. Ernest Dempster, graduate of Toronto Bible college, will be the guest speaker.

The Young People's union held their weekly meeting on Monday night.

The topic for the evening on "India" was taken by Doris Draper, after which several interesting slides were shown by Mr. Wilson. The leaders of the union are encouraged by the large attendance and hope that it continues throughout the year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pilky of Pickering spent Saturday at the home of Mr. W. R. Draper.

Mr. Bernard Draper and Miss Boyson of Toronto spent the weekend at Mr. Draper's home in town.

Belhaven

On Tuesday the Women's Institute met in the hall with the president, Mrs. Harry Horner, in charge of the meeting. There was a good attendance and Dr. F. G. Pim of Keswick gave a splendid talk on "First Aid." This should be very helpful to all who heard it, as so many practical things were explained.

The music given by Claude York and Albert Cox was appreciated by all. The Women's Institute is co-operating with the Red Cross work and several ladies took yarn home to knit socks for the soldiers. This phase of the work was in the charge of Miss Eva Sillea.

The W. I. convention, which is to be held in Toronto, Nov. 22, 23 and 24, will be attended. It is hoped by a carload of members. Mrs. Harry Horner is the delegate from the Belhaven branch. A good lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Even though last Friday night was so rainy the hot fowl supper in the community hall, under the auspices of Bethel United church, was a good success financially. There was a good crowd, a good supper of roast goose, etc., and a splendid entertainment.

The program included selections by a very fine orchestra, a reader, an interesting (who) and make a dog laugh, a reciter, and a soloist, who finished the program by singing "There is no death." The talent was all from Toronto and thanks are due the Bethel minister, Mr. Lundsted, for procuring such exceptional talent, whose equal is seldom heard except in the city.

The weather is bright and cold, with some snow on the ground, which reminds one that Christmas is on the wing.

The council met in the hall last Monday.

It is reported that nomination day in Belhaven is Nov. 24.

POLICE CHIEF PRAISES HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The following letter of approval from Chief Constable James E. Sloss was read at the Newmarket Lions club on Monday evening. The letter is addressed to President Jack Luck.

"On behalf of this department, I wish to take this opportunity of extending congratulations to your club as well as expressing my appreciation for the most able manner in which the children of this municipality were entertained and cared for during the night of Oct. 31 last, a time when, so often, vandalism becomes dangerous and causes considerable damage to property. Judging from a police standpoint, this most certainly was a welcome and successful undertaking, as complaints and damage, as a result, were at a minimum. Property damage within the entire town would not exceed $5, while only two complaints were registered at this office, a very unusual occurrence as compared with other years."

"During the course of the next few days, following Halloween, I had an occasion to question certain boys concerning broken street lights and the word for word answer received was: 'You don't think that we would do that after the good time the Lions club gave us, do you?'"

Surely this is sufficient to prove that a great deal had been accomplished. But after hearing comments of children as they left the arena to go home, I could not but conclude that the night had been a huge success and hence money well spent."

"The elimination of juvenile delinquency has always been the foundation of all police work, therefore I contend that a similar practice such as exercised by your club on Halloween might well be copied by other municipalities."

GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY ON 19TH ANNIVERSARY

On Nov. 10, the occasion being the 19th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Rye, formerly of Keswick, they were most delightfully taken by surprise when Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rye and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Cowieson and Irene, of Toronto, stole a march on them by dropping in, just at supper time, beautifully laden with roast chickens and other edibles too numerous to mention.

After supper, Mr. Wylder produced chocolate candy, and the children presented their parents with a rose glass cake plate.

The evening was spent in harmonica and piano selections and games.

Mr. and Mrs. Rye expressed their thanks to all who so generously contributed to a highly enjoyable evening.

The Era is the best means of getting in touch with the most progressive people of this district.
